Tied to the 6 x 30-minute BBC series, "Ultimate Killers" is presented by Steve Leonard (co-presenter of "Vets in the Wild" and "Vets in Practice"). He and his crew travel the world in search of the deadliest animals - deadly in terms of their strength, speed, venom and pure killing ability. Steve swims with killer whales, stalks with lions, hunts out snakes, and dives with killer-jelly fish to let us experience, first-hand, the killers at work. The book provides a behind-the-scenes diary of Steve's adventure with candid accounts of the trip accompanied by photos of him in action and lots of facts about the animals he meets. There is information given by experts - naturalists, game wardens, scientists - who come into close contact with the killers.
